Welcome to the party!

Thanks so much for hopping aboard our crazy train. Where we commit the unforgiveable by mashing up iconic films like "Indiana Jones" with car-crash-on-the-screen gems like "The Tiger King."

Disgraceful, we know!

But also, oh so hilarious.

As promised, here's the link to Ghosts of Batman Past. In which DC Comic's newest Batman, Robert Pattinson, is confronted by his biggest fear ... that in agreeing to be the next Batman, he's made a career-ending decision.

Want even more inexcusable mashups?

We've got you covered!

Follow us on iTunes or Spotify to find out which of your favorite flicks we'll defile next.

And watch your email for an introduction to the Let's Remake a Movie Team where you'll find out:

- Who would turn "Dawn of the Dead" into a musical complete with zombie kick-line?
- Whose worst nightmare would be waking up in the middle of a teenage romantic comedy as the lead character?
- Whose most movie-like life moment was watching a friend get cuffed by the cops after running through the streets in bright daylight with nothing on but a Spider Man mask?

Yippee ki ye movie lovers!
